3 Description of Change

The u-blox EVA-M8Q concurrent GNSS module has now been lifted from Prototype (PT) to Engineering Sample (ES).

As a consequence, relevant documentation (see Reference Document) has been updated (incl. change of documentation status from Objective Specification to Advance Information) and published.

This Information Note is sent to customers who has already evaluated or are testing the EVA-M8Q, for the availability of the latest updated documentation.

4 Customer Impact and Recommended Action

It is recommended that customers acquire the latest documentation and check for potential changes/updates. Each affected document ([1], [2]) contains a revision history with information about the content changes.
